

A finer line.

A single thread becomes the visual signature. It frames the gaze, reveals the portrait and opens the treatment panels.

Warm ivory, deep olive and champagne connect natural photography to a sculptural editorial layout.

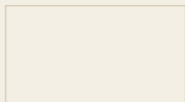

This is a production kit for later implementation. It includes identity, assets, copy, motion direction and an offline study.

Editorial typography. Natural photography. One continuous line.

Two transparent logo lockups: olive on light backgrounds and ivory on deep olive.

The T carries an eyebrow-like thread arch. The descriptor keeps the service clear. Preserve proportions and generous clear space.

Palette: #F3EFE5 / #293D31 / #A9AF95 / #B7A079.

Champagne is decorative, not body text.

T-thread-symbol.svg is an editable complementary symbol, not an exact trace of the raster wordmark.

Desktop / Editorial scale

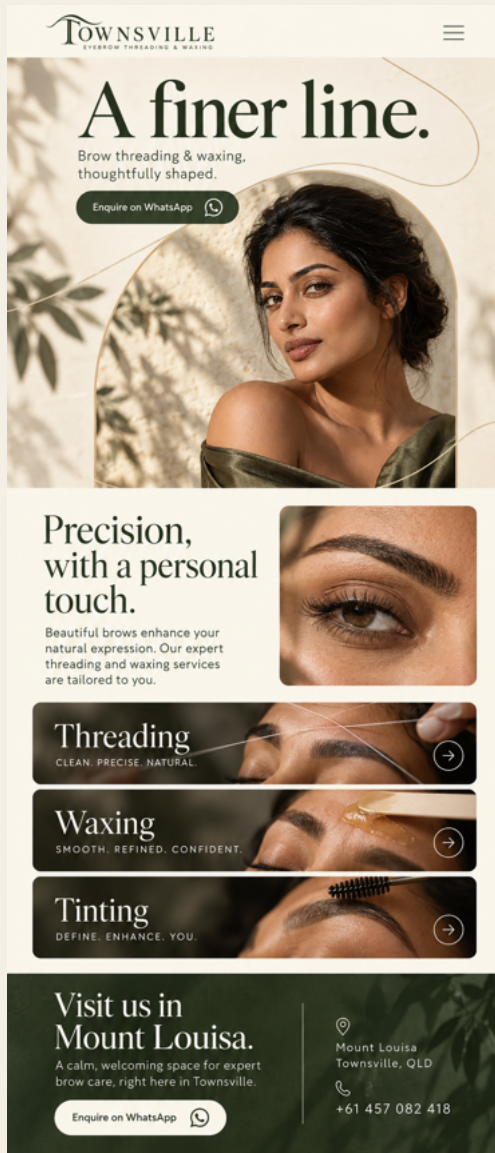

Hero → craft → treatments → detail → contact. Large type, a calm face and a deliberate grid establish the hierarchy.

Use the mockup as composition guidance. Implement all copy and buttons in HTML using 03-secoes-copy-en.md as the canonical text.

Generated mockup photos are conceptual. The real-work section uses only approved photographs supplied by the business.

Mobile / Space for the gaze

Headline first, portrait second, clear enquiry action.

Keep brows visible and do not overlay copy on eyes.

Use hero-portrait-mobile.png for the mobile composition.

Treatment images become vertical cards.

The animation is reduced to macro and portrait; no extended pinning or tiny desktop navigation.

Reduced-motion users see a static hero with immediate access to every section.

Contact

0-16%: a fine thread draws the arch.

16-40%: the gaze crossfades to the portrait.

40-62%: the portrait gains quiet depth.

62-86%: the arch opens three treatment windows.

86-100%: panels hand over to the page.

Masks and 2D layers keep the transition coherent. They do not create physical threading or a 3D camera orbit.

Services / Materials and care

Threading, waxing, brow and lash tinting anchor the service story. Hair and occasion beauty are secondary enquiries.

The wax still life borrows the material quality of the skincare references. It does not imply a cosmetic product is sold.

Natural skin texture and restrained light unify the campaign. Generated photographs must not be used as proof of client results.

The CTA opens a conversation, not an automatic booking. Contact details were transcribed from the supplied screenshots.

Reconfirm hours and the current service menu before publishing. No review count, price or award is invented.

Production / A reviewable sequence

Build the static page first. Then connect the reversible motion timeline without blocking native scroll.

PNG originals and transparent layers are retained.
Optimize responsive exports for the finished site; lazy-load content below the hero.

Review keyboard access, focus, 360px layout, 200% zoom and reduced motion. Test WhatsApp and phone links.

The offline study illustrates timing and composition.
Browser visual review remains part of final implementation; the local browser runtime was unavailable for this kit.
